The Irish Church Question in Parliament.

LONDON, July 9.—The action of the House of Lords on the Irish Church bill caused intense excitement. Messrs. Bright and Gladstone are in receipt of letters daily from persons offering a recommendation that the House of Commons should not pass the bill, but they discontinue the movement for the present and express the belief that the House of Lords will vote at the last moment from the opposition to the bill of the people, though a compromise is expected in the postponement of the date of the discussion until January, 1872, by paying in a lump the sum of half a million pounds in lieu of private donations and by allowing interest to be computed at four per cent. per annum.

The following letter has been circulated privately among known progressives:

Sir: In view of a probable failure of the Irish Church bill through opposition of the House of Lords to the government, the Commons and the country, you are requested to inform the Secretary of the Reform League whether you are willing that your name shall be used, in the event of a defeat of that measure, to a public call for a mass meeting to consider the best constitutional method of getting rid of this obstruction to legislation based upon the opposition of the House of Lords.

LONDON, July 9.—The Times regards the postponement of the debate on the Alabama claims with satisfaction. Their editorialist writes before it is resumed, "serve no good purpose. A general sense of weariness with respect to the subject on both sides necessitates an interval, or a considerable period before it is resumed. The debate could be only useful, if parliament disapproved of the conduct of the ministry, or if it is intended to regard to future negotiations, but there is no discontinuation. The only change against Lord Stanley and Gladstone is that they were too long in coming to the withdrawal of the concessions made in the late treaty."

The presence here of Hon. John Rose, Minister of Finance of the Canadian Government, has caused the return of Mr. Thornton, the British Minister, from Newburyport, where he had taken his family.

The visit of Mr. Rose is induced by a desire to consult with the United States authorities respecting the proposed commercial treaty, but more especially on business connected with the Hudson Bay claims south of which he is the representative of Great Britain.
